

Anna Bernstein, Project Coordinator. Anna Bernstein is Project Coordinator for the Evaluation of Abortion Restrictions project. Anna received her BA from Tufts University in International Relations, with a concentration in Global Health. Prior to joining ANSIRH, she worked with the San Francisco Department of Public Health—Maternal, Child, and Adolescent Health section, coordinating clinics and other projects within the Child Health and Disability Prevention program. She has experience with health education and community organizing, most recently with Partners in Health’s initiative to advance health as a human right. Anna is passionate about reproductive health and health policy and is excited to be part of the Restrictions team, evaluating the effects of state-level restrictions on women’s lives. 510-986-8979.
