

Book clubs: Join a UCSF study

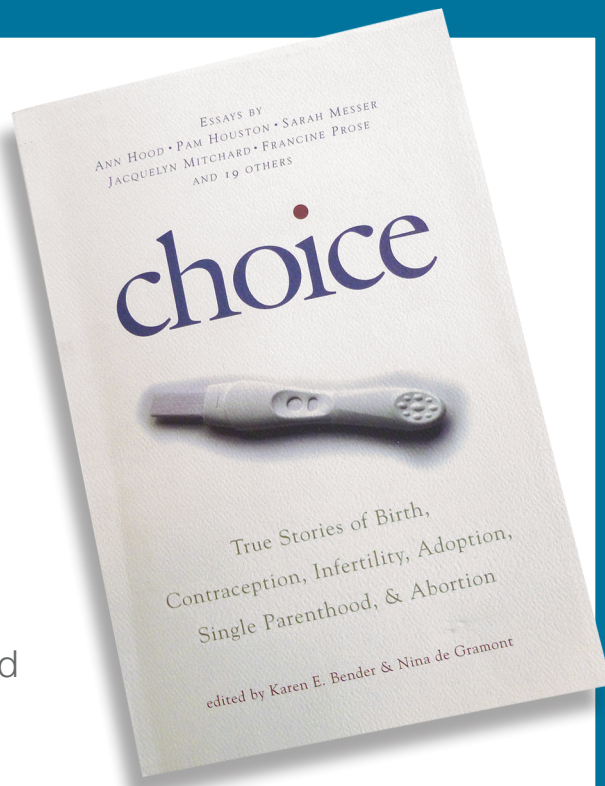

The University of California, San Francisco is interested in observing how women talk about pregnancy experiences in the context of a book club. Discussion topics may include birth, abortion, adoption, infertility, contraceptives, and single parenthood.

Participants will read and discuss the book

Choice: True Stories of Birth, Contraception, Infertility, Adoption, Single Parenthood, and Abortion. Book club meetings will be audio-recorded by a research assistant. Participants will then be asked to fill out surveys regarding their personal history and experiences with the book club. A small group of participants will be interviewed about their experiences in the book club.

You will be compensated for participating. Researchers will provide refreshments for the book club event and each participant will receive a copy of the book and a $10 Amazon gift card. Interview participants will receive $30 Amazon gift cards.

Participants must be female, 18 or older, a member of an existing book club, and an English speaker. Interested? Have any questions? Contact field researcher Kate Cockrill, MPH: cockrillk@obgyn.ucsf.edu; 510-986-8935.

Advancing New Standards in Reproductive Health (ANSIRH) is a research unit of the Bixby Center for Reproductive Health Research & Policy at the University of California at San Francisco (UCSF).