

Alison Lin, Organizer. Alison Lin, MPH works to grow and support our field operations and online network to foster innovation and radical collaboration in the movement, working with Dr. Sujatha Jesudasan on CoreAlign, an ANSIRH project that is creating a thirty-year strategy to win resources, rights and respect for all people's sexual and reproductive decisions.. With over ten years of leadership experience, she brings expertise in grassroots organizing, coalition building and research. A public health enthusiast, Alison's work spans structural HIV prevention for youth in Philadelphia and national Queer API organizing around immigration reform. She has published on abstinence-only education and adolescent interpersonal violence. Consuming less and building community connections take up time in her heart and her schedule. She is delighted to devote her skills and passion to CoreAlign's mission. 510-986-8931.
